Company recognized for having an exponential impact on the mortgage business.

ALBANY, NY—September 3, 2012—Ernst Publishing Company, the leading provider of closing cost data for the real estate and home finance industries for the past 20 years, has been chosen as one of only three companies in the industry as a finalist for Mortgage Technology magazine's 2012 10X award. Mortgage Technology will present 12 awards in 2012. The 10X Award commends a company, product or technology that's had an exponential impact on mortgage finance.

"We are very honored to have been chosen as a finalist for the 10X award because it shows that we have had that exponential impact on the industry over our 20-plus years in this business," said Gregory E. Teal, president and chief executive of Ernst Publishing. "Because the service we offer is built into the systems that power the origination side of the mortgage business, most don't realize how much of an impact we've had. That makes this recognition very important to us and we thank the editors and judges for their consideration."

The Mortgage Technology Awards have a long tradition in the mortgage finance and technology industries for recognizing innovative technology developers and users that are promoting more efficient and cost-effective lending practices. In its 13th year, the awards are among the most coveted in the industry. The winners of the 2012 Mortgage Technology Awards will be revealed at the 13th Annual Mortgage Technology Awards Ceremony on Sunday, October 21, 2012 in Chicago.
